

ON THE GREAT WHITE WAY

Personals

The east side was all "hot" up over the primaries. More interest was shown than at any but a presidential election. The candidates were on the jump from 8 to 6, almost without ceasing. Those left no stone unturned to bring their friends to the polls. And how well they succeeded is shown by almost 500 casting their ballot. While the contest waxed pretty strong towards the close of the campaign, on the whole the citizens are satisfied with the choice of the majority and the respective parties expect to work together harmoniously for their party choice. Women of the East Side took more interest than possibly in any other part of town. Working energetically all day for their favorite, giving Mrs. Olga Whiting, the 3rd largest vote in the 12th precinct and Mrs. Bertha Smalley also polled heavily. Woman Suffrage is strong on "The Great White Way."

The gas and oil station, Calumet and May street, is rapidly nearing completion and will have as an attractive and up-to-date equipment as any in the region.

FRENCH POUR TROOPS INTO DUESSELDORF

BY WILLIAM COOK

(STAFF CORRESPONDENT L. N. SERVICE) DUESSELDORF, May 2.—Dusseldorf took on a real wartime aspect today. Thousands of French poilus poured into the railroad station a mobile army is being concentrated around this city consisting of infantry, cavalry, tanks, artillery and aircraft. All branches of the service are plentifully equipped with ammunition and are ready to move forward at a minute's notice. The military authorities are requisitioning hotels and other buildings for the billeting of troops.

Townpeople on the whole did not seem interested in the military activity in their midst. The French held a big review to celebrate the centenary of Napoleon's death. French flags were flying everywhere and a salute of 101 guns was fired at Napoleonsberg which was built by the French warrior during his advance upon Berlin.

Dr. Nichols was in this vicinity a short time ago.

THIS IS IT

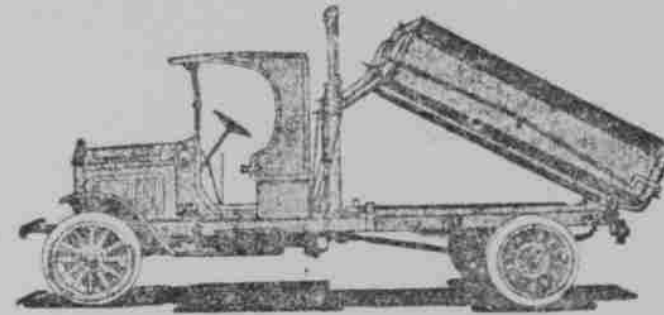

On February 27th Major H. W. Schroeder, chief test pilot at McCook Field, Dayton, Ohio, performed the most daring and sensational flying feat since the trans-Atlantic flight of the Zenith-equipped "NC-4." Soaring into the unexplored regions of the skies until his oxygen tanks became exhausted and his eyeballs were frozen by the extreme cold, he attained an altitude of 36,020 feet, almost seven miles, thus establishing a new world record, which is practically a mile higher than the highest altitude hitherto reached.

On this remarkable air voyage, Major Schroeder's plane was driven by a Liberty Engine, equipped with Zenith Carburetors. The carburetor which gave dependable carburetion under those conditions will give dependable carburetion on your motor car or truck. Let us give you a demonstration.
